According to the Taiwan News, an Air New Zealand flight bound for Shanghai was forced to turn back to Auckland on Feb. 9th by Chinese authorities, after several hours in the air. 🗣️ Some said that the reason behind the incident is that Air New Zealand used wording which implied that Taiwan is an independent country, although the matter itself has yet to be confirmed by local New Zealand authorities. 🗣️

When asked to comment on the issue by the news agency, New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern pointed out that the relations between China and New Zealand are not getting worse. 🗣️ She said it was due to administrative issues. 🗣️ However, she admitted that China and New Zealand have a “complex relationship” which has “its challenges.” 🗣️

Air New Zealand apologized for the inconvenience caused to its customers and was “deeply disappointed and frustrated by the situation,” reported AP. 🗣️
